CHARACTER WEAK BUT NOT VERACITY

Jerome Scores Point With Mrs. Thaw's Diary

Examination of Lawyer Abe Hummel Boots Prosecution Nothing This Morning.

OBJECTIONS ARE SUSTAINED

New York, Feb. 26.—The first witness in the Thaw trial today was Abe Hummel, the disbarred attorney, whom Jerome convicted some time ago of perjury, in the Dodge-Morse divorce case. After a few preliminary questions, Jerome handed the witness a photographic copy of an affidavit Evelyn Thaw is alleged to have made in Hummel's office, telling of Thaw's alleged cruelties to her while they were traveling in Europe and exonerating White, Evelyn testified yesterday that she did not make the statement, but heard Hummel dictate them to a stenographer. Delmas piled objection after objection in the prosecutor's path, which Justice Fitzgerald sustained. Hummel then withdrew from the stand. Mrs. Thaw on Stand.

Evelyn Thaw was recalled and when Jerome had concluded his cross-examination at 12:40 o'clock she was smiling, confident and still fighting. At the finish the prosecutor struck probably the most effective blow at the girl when he introduced her diary, while at school at Pompton. In the diary were scathing remarks about her "Virtuous Whitehead" and "Weakness for Rector's," which she knew was not a proper place for a young girl to go.

This was read to the jury. If Jerome's attack has found a weak spot it has been in her character, rather than veracity. At the afternoon session Evelyn was recalled by the state.

GIANT ICICLE CAUSES A PANIC.
Crashes Through Skylight, Frightens People and Injures Two.

New York, Feb. 26.—While sixteen families in the Sterling place apartment house, Brooklyn, were at luncheon today they were thrown into a panic when an icicle twenty feet long and five feet thick crashed through the skylight. Florence Woods, a servant, was standing under the skylight and she was hit on the head and knocked senseless. She suffered injuries on the back, abrasions of the face and hands and cuts on the head and her condition is serious. Cora Walker, another servant, escaped with slight cuts on the hands. The huge icicle fell from the roof of the house four stories high.

AGED WOMAN FALLS
AND BREAKS HER ARM

Mrs. M. H. Rohm fell yesterday morning at the home of her nephew, Mr. C. F. Riecke, 528 Kentucky avenue and broke the small bone of her left arm. Her niece, Mrs. Charles Truheart of Louisville arrived last evening, coming as soon as she heard of the accident. Mrs. Rohm is resting very comfortably today. She celebrated her 85th birthday on February 2, and is remarkably active. She has a wide circle of friends in Paducah who will rejoice that the accident was not more serious.

Heads Not Guilty.
Washington, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Anna Bradley, indicted for murder in the first degree for the alleged killing of former Senator Arthur M. Brown of Utah, was arraigned before Judge Stafford in the criminal court here today. Mrs. Bradley is evidently suffering from her confinement, as she was very nervous. The indictment was read to her and she pleaded not guilty. No time was set for the trial of the case and she was remanded.

Judge Wofford Dead.
Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 26.—John W. Wofford, judge of the criminal court, noted for his quaint philosophy died today, aged 66 years. He held that a wife had a right to "go through her husband's pockets," saying that when a man married he conferred this prerogative upon his wife. He served with distinction in the Confederate army in a Georgia regiment.

New South Wales paid $3,500,000 in four months for rabbits.

He fired a bullet through his brains.

SACRA ON TRIAL.
Russellville, Ky., Feb. 26.—John Sacra, who has been in jail at Bowling Green for safe keeping was placed on trial for the second time today on the charge of being one of four men, who assaulted Mary Gladder, a German girl. The jury is being selected. During the former trial the jail was attacked by a mob and Sacra was shot. He was given the death sentence but the court of appeals granted a new trial on account of the mob. The two Sacras' alleged accomplices are Fletcher and Lyons, who were hanged last week.

MAIL ROBBERY.
Mt. Sterling, Feb. 26.—Deputy Marshal Jackson arrested Thomas Pettit, of Powell county on the charge of attempting to rob the mails and brought him here. It is charged that Pettit attacked and badly beat Carrier Henry Stevens.

DRAMATIC SUICIDE.

POISONER CHARGED.
Chicago, Feb. 26.—The grand jury has voted six true bills, charging murder against Herman Bluck, a fortune teller, in connection with the deaths of six members of the family of Martin Vrzal. The indictments charge death by poisoning.

There is only one kind of a newspaper circulation statement that is worth any consideration and that is the daily detailed statement. The Sun is the only Paducah paper printing such a statement.

LOOKS AT VICTIM BEFORE ESCAPING

Stoner Ferguson Went to the House Where Morris Died

Changed His Coat and Hat At Home and Went Out, Followed By His Son.

WHEREABOUTS ARE UNKNOWN

Stonewall J. Ferguson, after fatally stabbing Augustus Morris at Campbell and Eighth streets Sunday evening, immediately went to his home, changed his coat and hat and in company with his son returned to the home of May Gordon in time to see his victim placed in the wagon and taken to the undertakers. After this he disappeared.

The fact that Ferguson returned home and later confirmed his suspicions of the fatal results of his attack on Young Morris is not denied, the statement coming directly from one of the family. The family, however, did not know that he had committed any crime. It is further stated that the reason the son accompanied, or rather followed him, is that the father appeared not to be himself, and his speedy departure aroused suspicion.

To a friend one of Ferguson's sons stated yesterday afternoon that his father entered the house excitedly, took off his coat and hat and minked a quick change started out again. The boy followed and decried his father was present at the house when the dead body of young Morris was placed in the ambulance to be conveyed away.

This is as much as can be learned of Ferguson's actions immediately following the killing. The report that he was seen at Potter and Alexander's grocery store a few doors from the May Gordon home, following the departure of undertakers with the body, could not be confirmed.

Friends of Ferguson who have grown up with him believe he will return and surrender when excitement dies out, but state it is their opinion that he has left the city. Various reports have been in circulation regarding his temperament, but his friends know him as a peaceable, law-abiding citizen, and attribute his act to temporary derangement caused by drink.

Victim's Funeral.
This morning at 7:50 o'clock the body of Augustus Morris was taken to Calvert City on the Fulton-Louisville Illinois Central accommodation train, and this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock buried in the Calvert City cemetery. The Rev. D. M. Green, a Baptist minister officiated. Those who went to Calvert City this morning to attend the funeral are N. M. and J. B. Morris, brothers; Mrs. Myrtle Dunn, Misses Magie Morrison and Arizona Blackburn, Messrs. James Ward, Aaron Hurley and Milam Lander. A sister remained at the bedside of the father, whose condition is considered hopeless, the patient having been unconscious five days of pneumonia.

A New Grandson.
James Divinie returned Monday from Paducah, where he and his wife went to see a new grandson that had been born to their daughter, Mrs. Herman Divinie. Mrs. Divinie will remain for several days yet. Jim is stepping around like a real young grandpa.—Mayfield Messenger.

DEFICIT CAUSED BY WORK ON ROADS

Funds of County Lack $25,000 of Enough to Cover Expenses Incurred During Calendar Year

JUDGE LIGHTFOOT EXPLAINS.

Because of the constant work on gravel roads in McCracken county to keep them in good repair, the county road funds show a deficit of $25,000. This is for work done on the roads last year, and the fact that comparatively damage was done to them by the frequent rains of a few weeks ago shows the work to have been well done.

"The money is what we had to borrow to do the work," Judge Lightfoot explained, "as we had no money in the road fund at the time."

Judge Lightfoot is a strong advocate of a bond issue for county road improvements, and has been progressive constantly in this respect. He has been instrumental in securing some of the biggest improvements the county has had in years.

I. C. WILL SPEND MANY MILLIONS

New Orleans, Feb. 26.—Announcement of many million dollars worth of contemplated improvements by the Illinois Central was made here today by President Harahan. He said the road will immediately purchase 3,500 freight cars at a cost of $4,300,000 and in addition 50 locomotives. The cars to be furnished by November next, and the engines by October.

BOY AND DOG WERE LOST AND DON'T SEEM TO CARE.

Giving his name as Jimmy Lane, of parentage, age and residence unknown, a small boy with big blue eyes and rosy cheeks, leading a small black dog with a small string, sat nonchalantly in a chair in police headquarters for an hour, awaiting identification. He doesn't care. He says his father is a railroad. He was heard of on Clay street, then Fourth and Jackson streets. A woman washed him and fed him there at noon. A young man carried him to the police station. A telephone call revealed the child's identity as the son of John Lane, Tenth and Clay streets.

DOUBLE THE CAPACITY OF BAPTIST MISSION.

To accommodate the growth in the Sunday school and church, plans have been drawn and the contract let to double the building of the Twelfth street Baptist mission. It is expected that a settlement had been made with the state for the McCracken county taxes. Not a hitch occurred in balancing his books with those of the state.

ODD FELLOWS GO SLOW IN SEARCH

Might Close Deal for Building Susceptible of Alteration to Suit Needs of Order—Might Build Home

DESIRE SITE NEAR BROADWAY.

Options have been secured by the Odd Fellows on several Broadway properties with the view of purchasing a home for the order. If they can find a building which suits their purpose, the fact that it is ready up would be rather favorable to its purchase. There is a strong inclination among the members to have the home of the lodge on some side street not more than a square from Broadway. In that event the noise of the principal thoroughfare would be avoided and the advantages of a central location still retained.

The Odd Fellows also have options on several lots adjacent to Broadway, which would be suitable for building purposes. If it is decided to build a new home, it will be several months at the least before actual construction is under way. A ready built home would have to be sufficiently large for the lodge hall and capable of being reconstructed to suit the lodge's particular needs. Having made a year's lease of the Knights of Pythias' hall the Odd Fellows will go about getting a home of their own in a leisurely manner.

FRANK DISCUSSION.

Of Expenses of Riverside Hospital Will Be Indulged In.

Mayor Yelser probably will call the board of trustees of the Riverside hospital together tomorrow to reorganize. Mayor Yelser and President Palmer, of the board of aldermen and President Lindsey, of the board of councilmen, are ex-officio members. The election in the general council and consequent change of officers, necessitates reorganization of the board. It is understood that frank consideration of the matter of trimming expenses of the institution will follow immediately on reorganization.

SHERIFF GETS QUIETUS
FROM STATE AUDITOR.

Attorney D. H. Hughes received a message this morning from Sheriff John W. Ogilvie in which he stated that a settlement had been made with the state for the McCracken county taxes. Not a hitch occurred in balancing his books with those of the state.

THREE CANDIDATES OUT
FOR CITY ATTORNEYSHIP

Attorney Frank A. Lucas has formally announced for city attorney. He is a well-known young attorney, for years a state auditor's agent, and will make a hard race. Other candidates are A. L. Harper and John Miller, Jr.

PET DOG AROUSES MASTER'S FAMILY

Residence of Mr. George Ripley, Jr., 814 Madison Street Saved by Faithful Animal From Fire

RESULTING DAMAGE SLIGHT.

Aroused by the persistent whining and scratching against the front door by his dog, Mr. George Ripley, Jr., of 814 Madison street got out of bed to quiet the dog last night at 10:30 o'clock and found the rear of his residence in flames. The dog stays in the back yard and it is supposed that his instinct told him that something was wrong as he went to the front porch and remained there barking and scratching against the door until Mr. Ripley came.

Fire companies Nos. 1 and 3 responded to the alarm and the blaze was extinguished after it had done $200 damage to the house and several hundred dollars damage to the furniture. The fire started in the kitchen and had made good headway before the family was aroused by the dog. The furniture was partly insured and the house owned by Capt. Owen, of the Bettie Owen, was insured.

BURNED BY METAL.

Luther Long Receives Injuries At I. C. Shops.

Molten rabbit metal badly burned Luther Long, a young tinner employed in the Illinois Central shops, yesterday afternoon. So thick did the flying metal spread that it stuck in great lumps in his hair, and had to be cut out with scissors. Long was pouring metal into a journal box brass. In some way water had gotten into the engine, and when the hot metal hit it, an explosion occurred and forced the metal into his face. His cheeks and neck were burned, his eye-brows and lashes singed and painful burns inflicted generally on his face and head.

WOMAN SEEMS DEMENTED;
POLICEMEN TAKE CHARGE

Mary Montgomery, colored, was arrested near Nineteenth street and Broadway last night by Patrolmen Moore and Long on suspicion of insanity. She entered the residence of Mr. Ed Nance and was driven out. She later was discovered attempting to enter another residence nearby. The policemen answered a hurried summons and brought her to the station. She is being held pending a examination.

BUDGET FIGURES ARE PRETTY HIGH

When Estimated Income Is Taken Into Consideration This Year

OVER TWO THOUSAND SHORT

Anticipation of Half Million Increase in Assessment Was Too Ambitious.

FINANCE COMMITTEE TO MEET

Based on collections for last year, the most accurate system of estimating it, the income of the city this year will fall short $2,549.15 of covering the budget, which was prepared by the general council in anticipation of more than a half million increase in the assessment. The half million fell off $50,000, including estimated railroad assessment, which will be made out by the state authorities and paid the following year. The assessment this year, which includes the estimated railroad assessment, is $10,850,599, as compared with $10,401,226 last year, an increase of $449,373.

Last year the income was $228,361.67, of which $148,384.15 was raised by property tax and $79,977.52 from all other sources, including police court, Riverside hospital, markets, scales, wharf, cemetery and licenses. In Lexington and other second class cities the revenue for the year is estimated by multiplying the assessment by the tax rate and deducting 10 per cent for delinquents errors and double assessments, to the results of which is added collections from all other sources.

Paducah's Method.
City Auditor Alex Kirkland has a more accurate basis. He takes the collections for the preceding year for his basis, presuming that the taxes collected last year will be collected this year, and that in the matter of license and all sources of income other than taxes, the growth of the city and consequent increase will cover whatever items are lost.

Figuring for the benefit of the finance committee at the beginning of the year, assuming on suggestion that the increase in property valuation would be $500,000, he gave the city an estimated income of $255,634.15. The assessment fell short of this estimate $50,000, reducing the estimate to $205,634.15. The budget calls for $257,258, leaving an apparent deficit of $2,548.85.

The estimate is made in this way: The income from property tax at the rate of $1.65 on the $100 last year was $148,384.15. At the rate of

BOONEYARD CANDIDATE.

Humane Officer Sanders Cannot Find Owner.

Thomas Sanders, humane officer, this morning found a sure enough candidate for the boneyard. It was a horse ready to fall down from starvation, and so sore were his hoofs from going unshod that it limped painfully along Broadway pulling a heavy farm wagon.

"Two negro boys were driving him and I asked them whose it was," officer Sanders explained. "They said it belonged to a farmer of the county, and I telephoned him. He declared that it belonged to the negroes, and when I returned to the boys they were equally as positive it belonged to the man. I ordered it out of harness and will prosecute if I find it being driven again until in better condition."

THEATRICAL NOTES

AT THE KENTUCKY.

Tuesday Night—"The Vanderbilt Cup."

Wednesday Night—"Blue Beard."

Saturday Matinee and Night—"James Boys in Missouri."

Sousa's Latest.

Real opera with a full orchestra, a cast of trained principals with reputations, and a singing chorus, and above all, a new piece, relieved the theatrical situation in Paducah, when Sousa's latest, "The Free Lance," with Joe Cawthorne, Jeanette Lowrie and Nela Bergen in the leading roles, was presented last night at The Kentucky. Sousa has written better operas and there have been many more tuneful scores heard in past seasons, but that avails us nothing, because the dearth of really ambitious musical pieces on the road leaves most cities without anything with which to compare it when "The Free Lance" makes a visit. The audience last night was delighted; first with the music; then with the scene, and last and all the time with the work of the company. Of course, there is one big march, "On to Victory!" and it has the Sousa swing, with the shrill of reed instruments and the crash of drums that give the thrill that only Sousa understands.

Every number made a hit, because it was of high order and well rendered; but among the more catchy ones are: "The Mystery of History," "The Goose Girl," "On to Victory," and "I Do It All by Proxy."

Besides the three, whose names are best known to theatergoers, George Schiller and Albert Hart, as the emperor of Bragadocia and Duke of Graftiana, respectively, leave nothing to be desired in their parts, while George Talman, tenor, as the son of the duke, and Yolande's incongruous lover, adds to the effect with his physical appearance and high voice. The chorus composed of good singers.

Sousa is the "March King," and he is at his best in the military numbers. Dreamy love songs with waltz choruses are beyond him, and "The Free Lance," like most of his operas, is shy of the kind of numbers the gallery whistles.

The book of "The Free Lance," by Harry B. Smith is as bright as would be expected.

"Vanderbilt Cup" Tonight.

An attraction which the management of The Kentucky regards as one of the most important of the present season, "The Vanderbilt Cup," will be seen here tonight. This magnificent production which has established itself as the greatest success New York has known in years, and which made the enviable record of five months on Broadway at one theater, will be seen with all its wealth of scenic effect, a compass, and capable company, and the famous automobile race between two high-power cars, which is heralded as the most thrilling stage spectacle that has been given to the public in many years. The play is spoken of as the very first of the real automobile plays, and it is said to convey the very atmosphere of this most fascinating of modern forms of sport in such a subtle way that the auditor is carried almost unconsciously into the rollicking spirit of automobilism. The humor song and story are so well and so acceptably told, and the comedy is so up-to-date and infectious, that the play has won golden opinions wherever it has been seen.

Two of Mr. Herbert Wallerstein's compositions will be sung by principals tonight.

After a long rest "The Vanderbilt Cup" company should give Paducah an extra good performance tonight. The Cairo Bulletin says:

"Big Four passenger train No. 3 due to arrive here at noon did not come until nearly 8 o'clock last evening, the delay being occasioned by a freight wreck at Vienna. The theatrical company which was to present 'The Vanderbilt Cup' at the opera house last night, owing to the late arrival here and the time necessary to transfer scenery to the theater did not put on the play and many theatergoers were disappointed to miss the performance of one of the best attractions scheduled for Cairo this season."

"Blue Beard" Wednesday.

Around the performance of "Blue Beard," which will be presented here tomorrow night, cluster a lot of reminiscences not altogether historic. This is the piece which was playing at the Iroquois theater in Chicago when fire broke out at the matinee and nearly the whole audience was consumed in the flames. The house was packed then as it was all during "Blue Beard's" Chicago engagement, which ended on that ill-fated day. "Blue Beard" is an extravaganza, abounding in gorgeous scenery and beautiful ballets, with a fairy story plot and catchy musical numbers. It is an elaborate production.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

THE STOMACH

My but peoples' stomachs do cause a lot of trouble. I offered to wager some doctor in St. Paul, Minn., that 1-2 of all sick people is caused by the stomach. After I assured them that my medicine did nothing but put the stomach in shape and they had spent a day listening to what people who called on me had to say, they had to agree with me. They heard people come in and tell me that for years they had been near the grave with bright's disease, or lung trouble, or kidney complaint and all manner of diseases and that the New Discovery had cured them. Of course these people were mistaken. It was nothing but their stomachs. As a matter of fact when the stomach gives out most everything else is thrown out of order too.

When a person feels tired and dull and despondent, is losing flesh and don't sleep well, has a poor memory, a bad taste in the mouth, a coated tongue, and other troubles he's liable to believe a lot of things are the matter with him. Nine chances to one it's his stomach. I've seen Cooper's New Discovery bring back health to too many people in just this shape to believe anything else. Here's a letter about it:

"I suffered for a long time without knowing just what was the matter with me. I seldom felt like eating. I lost greatly in weight. My digestion was extremely poor and where I did eat I invariably suffered afterward. I was constipated and frequently suffered from nerve-racking, violent headaches. When I heard of what the Cooper remedies were doing for others I resolved to try them."

"Relief came with the first bottle. My appetite and digestion improved rapidly. I am no longer constipated nor do I have those dreadful headaches. I sleep well and am feeling fresh." C. H. POWELL, 13 Harrison Addition, Duluth, Minn.

We are selling immense quantities of these medicines and our customers express great satisfaction.

W. B. McPHERSON.

probably the reason that they are often selected for the theme for stage productions, but in "The James Boys in Missouri," undoubtedly the best drama built about the lives of these famous bandits is offered. Truth is stranger than fiction and that is the reason that incidents, historically correct, from the lives of these brothers staged with wonderful effects constitutes one of the most sensational plays of the year. This production will appear here Saturday matinee and night.

40 inches with prospects of more. From now on through March unsettled weather is expected. Business at the wharf is fair.

Robert Moore and William Polsten left yesterday by rail for New Orleans where they will ship on ocean going vessels. Moore was engineer on the Lydia here for several years and Polsten came here recently from San Francisco, where he was an engineer on a sea vessel. The engineers put him on to river ways while he was here and the two young men ought to make good in the Gulf.

J. M. St. John, engineer on the Reuben Dunbar, was bit on the right hand by a dog on the boat yesterday. A tramp dog took up with the boat at Nashville and Mr. St. John made a pet of him. The dog got into a fight yesterday with another dog and while he was separating them the dog bit him.

The Vondor, a towboat from the lower river, has arrived to go on the ways for repairs.

Two of the boiler heads for the Dunbar arrived by express yesterday and the remainder of the flues will arrive by boat this week.

The Joe Fowler arrived at 2 o'clock today from Evansville and left immediately on the return trip.

Fogs and good business delayed the City of Memphis, which did not arrive until this morning from the Tennessee river. The Memphis will leave tomorrow evening.

The Nellie came up from Joppa last night after towing ties down.

Business was fair for the Dick Fowler in the Cairo trade this morning.

An alderman stated yesterday that it was probable a sixty foot strip of ground owned by the Illinois Central railroad on the river front would be purchased for wharf purposes.

The Chattanooga News says: Traffic along the river is booming.

Yesterday morning the John A. Patten arrived from Decatur with a very large cargo and also a good passenger list.

The Wheeler, inbound from Paducah, arrived shortly before noon today, and the captain reports a splendid trip, and also, which is more material, a good cargo and list of passengers. The service to and from this point is rapidly showing very large gains both in passenger and freight service, and the accommodations of the present run of boats is just about pushed to the limit. It is the intention of the company in the near future to install at least one other boat to ply between this point and Paducah.

OLD HOME OF ADAM AND EVE LOCATED IN MISSISSIPPI.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 26.—Prof. Clinton McKie, a Kansas scientist and archaeologist, is so confident that the Garden of Eden was located in the Yazoo valley, this state, that he wants to organize a stock company for the purpose of making extensive excavations on the farm of W. A. Henry, a planter, about seven miles south of Yazoo City. He thinks he can unearth the ruins of a once-splendid city erected shortly after the expulsion of Adam and Eve from the garden. Prof. McKie says he has conclusive evidence, based on the book of Genesis, and Greek and Egyptian records that Yazoo county was the birthplace of man, and it will only be necessary to dig the required depth in order to find proof of his belief.

IDENTITY

CONCEALED IN ORDER TO SECURE WORK ON RAILROAD.

Woman Claims to Be Widow of Fred A. Hunter, Whose Real Name Was Cushman.

Cecil Reed was appointed receiver of the estate of Fred A. Hunter pending the trial of a suit filed yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Henrietta Cushman, who claims to be the wife of the late Fred A. Hunter, an Illinois Central engineer, who died several weeks ago of pneumonia.

Mrs. Cushman alleges in her petition that she is the undivorced wife of Hunter, whose real name was Fred A. Cushman. The reason he changed his name is because of a serious wreck in Alabama which made it impossible for him to secure employment on other roads until his identity was concealed. They had been separated five years.

Hunter left all his estate to Lulu White, and County Judge R. T. Lightfoot before the probating of the will, appointed F. G. Rudolph administrator. Miss White came in with a petition in county court asking to be recognized as executrix, but the petition has not been acted on.

All funds by virtue of Judge Reed's orders have been turned over to Receiver Cecil Reed. The estate is not large, consisting of a $1,500 insurance policy, a horse and buggy and some personal estate.

A formal renunciation of the will of Fred Hunter, alias Cushman, was filed by Henrietta Cushman in county court today. Yesterday a cross petition was filed by the wife to remove F. G. Rudolph as administrator of Hunter's estate. The renunciation is a mere legal formality.

Did Blaine Break Faith With Garfield?

One of the features of Ida M. Tarbell's tariff article in the March American Magazine, is a story which presents certain aspects of James G. Blaine's veracity. It comes in as a part of Miss Tarbell's lively narrative of the fight in Grant's time between high protectionists and tariff reformers over the reduction of war duties. Following are some of the men and events referred to in Miss Tarbell's spirited article: Horace Greeley, "Sunset" Cox, Horace White, Henry C. Carey David A. Wells, "Pigiron" Kelley Senator Allison, Carl Schurz, John Sherman, the salt monopoly the fortunes made in iron, the financial nomination of Greeley, protection's great victory in Congress, and the panic of '73.

In 1870 Mr. Blaine was a candidate for re-election as Speaker. Unless he could appease the tariff reformers there was danger of their uniting with the Democrats to defeat him. Accordingly he asked the four most influential reformers to meet him secretly in New York. The four were William B. Allison, Horace White Charles Northcott, and General Brinkerhoff. There was a long discussion ending in a proposition from Mr. Blaine that if the reformers would permit him to be re-elected Speaker he would permit them to name the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and give them a majority on it. The proposition was accepted and Mr. Blaine was asked to appoint Mr. Garfield.

There was no reason to suppose that Mr. Blaine would not keep his promise. Nevertheless the suspicion that he was "slippery" in politics was not unconfined, and the Free Trade League concluded to send General Brinkerhoff to Washington to see that the arrangement was carried out.

The rest of the story is told as follows by Miss Tarbell:

"As the day went on and the appointment promised were not made General Brinkerhoff felt more and more uneasy, but said nothing. Finally one day as he was on the floor of the House, Mr. Blaine sent a page to him asking him for an interview.

"He then called some one to the chair," says General Brinkerhoff, "and as he went out of the south door I went out of the north door, and went around and met him. He took me down to the basement and into a room he called his den. He then locked the door and went to a cupboard and brought out some refreshments, and we sat down at a little table.

"After awhile he told he wanted to talk with me about the Ways and Means Committee. He took a slip of paper from a drawer and wrote down nine names and then turned it around to me to read. I saw that he kept his finger on the paper, and that he did not intend to let me take it away, and so I took a little time to study its make-up, and get it clearly in my memory. I saw at a glance that he was not carrying out his agreement, because Dawes was at the head as chairman, and not Garfield. I saw also as I looked over the list that a majority of the committee were not revenue reform men, although it was a combination calculated to deceive anyone not fully posted on individual records.

"There were only four men on his list who were not protectionists, and after discussing the matter a while he said, 'This is not a finally by any means, it is simply tentative and I will make the committee so that it will be satisfactory.' He repeated the word 'tentative' two or three times, but I made up my mind at once that a Ways and Means Committee satisfactory to the revenue reform people would never be made by Blaine, and so we parted after an hour's talk, with the understanding that he would see me again soon."

"That evening General Brinkerhoff met Garfield by appointment. 'You are not to be chairman of the Ways and Means Committee,' he told him. 'The protectionists will be a majority on it.'

"You are wrong," Garfield said. 'Mr. Blaine has already written me assuring me of my appointment.'

"Let me see the letter," said the general. Garfield's face fell. He had not the letter. Mr. Blaine had asked that it be returned because life was uncertain. 'You will not be appointed,' General Brinkerhoff reiterated. Garfield walked the floor for a few minutes, and then stopped, said: 'General Brinkerhoff, if Mr. Blaine does not appoint me chairman of the Ways and Means Committee he is the basest of men.' He was not appointed, but a few days later Mr. Dawes was."

Facts in the Case.

"They tell me Wedderly lends a dog's life."

"That's a fact. I saw him going down street yesterday in the capacity of pacesetter to his wife's pet cat."

William Allen White on Roosevelt.

"Roosevelt is no braver than many another man, who has fallen in the struggle against Mammon. But he has more vision. . . . A broader education than any man has brought to the White House since Jefferson's day, a life unclouded by vice of any kind, a clean mind, and a boyish heart, simple, confident, just, have combined to keep Theodore Roosevelt's faith in God and his belief in the common honesty of the common man unseared."

This writes William Allen White in his "Roosevelt: A Force for Righteousness," in the February McClure's. Successful contemporary portraiture is so rare an achievement that an article like this of Mr. White's merits unusual attention. Throughout he displays the sureness of touch and soundness of intuition that have distinguished his earlier work; some of his passages indeed, seem inspired, so brilliantly do they hit it off. What, for instance, could be better than this:

"A middle-aged, middle-sized figure struggling against pudginess, simple, boyish, direct; impulsive for the right and intolerant of wrong; human to the core, with his blind side for his friends and his sleepless eyes for his enemies—a group of gentlemen for whom he never has to blush. . . . a happy mixture of the cheerful idiot, the seer of visions, and the captain and crew of the 'Nancy Briggs'—a man who does the undisputed thing in such a buoyant way!"

Mr. White's analysis of Roosevelt's career, and "the tremendous effect of his precepts and his consistent example," is handled in this writer's most brilliant and able manner.

STEEL TIES

SAID TO HAVE CAUSED WRECK ON PENNSYLVANIA.

Road Used Ties on Solicitation, But This May End Experiment With Innovation.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 26.—Although the Pennsylvania railroad continues to insist, in its statements for the public, that the wreck of the 18-hour flier near Johnstown on Friday night was caused by a broken brake hanger, the opinion is almost firmly fixed in railroad circles that the steel ties were to blame.

Railroad men who examined the damage to the roadbed assert this. So does the conductor of the flier. And that the company itself leans to the same view is shown by the fact that it has demanded that the Carnegie company make good on its claims for the new tie.

Still another indication that the Pennsylvania officials, far from believing the wreck was an act of providence, as they profess in public, privately blame the ties is the fact that Conductor M. W. Forbes of the flier yesterday reported the cause as follows:

"Cause of wreck, spreading rails."

This message was wired to Pittsburg and Philadelphia headquarters from a little signal tower on the mountainside, near the scene of the crash. It was inadvertently allowed to be made public.

It is believed that the wreck of the flier signals the passing of the steel tie, yet only in the experimental stage. Its use by the Pennsylvania was at the solicitation of the makers.

ARE YOU RUNNING A LOSING RACE WITH THE CALENDAR?

Does every day record, in the office, a failure to quite "catch-up" with that day's work?

Does every day witness, in the home, another failure to finish today's duties—because of the unfinished duties of yesterday?

Does every day record, in the store, a few more customers who "couldn't wait" to be served by over-busy clerks?

If any of these things are true you need "more help"—so that an immediate resort upon your part to the classified ads, will enable you to "catch up with the calendar" and to do today's things today.

POLITICS AND SCHOOLS.

Politics, the kind that exploits a public school for party advantage or personal favorites, threatens to tear down all that has been accomplished in three years in the Paducah
schools particularly the High school. Both parties have now had a trial at running the schools. It is time the citizens were taking a hand
in their management. How parents can acquiesce in conditions that are harmful to their growing, developing children, is beyond the understanding of one, who has seen the same parents anxiously inquiring into the personnel of livery stable attendants,
where they keep the family horse.There is too much playing of politics;
too much vindictiveness, that
asserts itself regardless of the effects on discipline and honor; too
much covering of defects in the system.The present condition of things
was foretold to many by the pre-lection attitude of the members.
They were selected, secretly to be sure, in opposition to the present administration. That is all very well, if so it must be; but that opposition
should not have asserted itself to the detriment of the schools. Had the board been of that composition of which good school boards are formed,
it would have bided its time and then performed its will when the hour arrived, instead of heaping ignominy
on the superintendent, endeavoring to cripple him in the performance of his duty, and, destroying discipline
among the principals and teachers,
and thereby setting an example to the children, which must be reflected in their attitude toward the next superintendent, in their homes and in whatever position they may hereafter be placed.
The members by casting aspersions on unnamed teachers and principals have bred scandal in the schools, all of which must have been greedily disseminated by the children. The trustees apparently did not consider that every
open attack on the superintendent
during his administration was an attack on the schools, from which they never can recover until the children affected are graduated. Children are prone to follow examples, especially bad ones, and the school trustees have set them some notable ones.It is this view of the case that has dictated the policy of THE SUN all through this unfortunate schism in the schools. In the half dozen times

THE SUN has mentioned the trouble
editorially, it can be truthfully said that this paper has taken no sides in personal controversies. THE SUN has raised its voice in protest, only when the discipline and the interests of the schools were assailed by the combatants. Whether Superintendent Lich is right or wrong, he is superintendent of the schools, and personal attacks on him in his official capacity coming from those in authority over him has created a condition in the schools, which parents
sincerely can realize, and the chief condition is in the minds of the im-pressible children, who are drinking in the progress of the wrangle, and forming mental conclusions that will affect them for life.

There is an election approaching
when one-half the school board will be elected. We have had enough of politics in schools. We do not care whether the next board is Democratic or Republican, or both, or neither;
but we do care whether it is composed of men whose sole purpose is in accepting the office is to safeguard the schools and look first to the interest
of pupils instead of to the interest of their friends. There should be a non-partisan board elected, and then when the legislature convenes, an amendment to the charter should be secured, providing for a school election every two years instead of every year, so that the schools will not be thrown in annual confusion by the exigencies of party politics and political campaigns.

Sub-treasuries in St. Louis and Chicago both have been robbed, just like banks, only of larger sums than any minor employee of a bank could steal. These instances only go to show that had men will steal, whether employed by the government or a private institution, and had men are more likely to get into positions of trust through political influences
than through promotion by people,
whose direct financial interests will
be affected by their conduct.

Some of those western congressmen may regret having attacked Hitchcock so soon. He hasn't concluded his investigation of the land frauds. Secretary Hitchcock has been the target of abuse from interests, that have been stealing government coal lands, and his reputation has been seriously injured by newspapers carelessly publishing inspired articles against him sent out
by disreputable news bureaus.

Since trust regulating has become a fad, we observe that certain prominent gentlemen, who used to treat reporters with contempt, are eagerly seeking opportunities to get a hearing in the newspapers. Times and conditions work many changes.

There should be a large attendance
of public spirited citizens at the open meeting of the Commercial club in the council chamber of the city hall
tonight.

The discharge of the Bailey investigation committee without a report,
was a victory for Senator Bailey's faction—not for Senator Bailey.

Fitter punishment than being deposed, would be for President Zelaya to be elected president of all Central America.

LA FOLLETTE'S ALARM.

Senator La Follette says that the growth of gigantic combinations of capital has robbed the people of their power, and he thinks that "democracy is on trial for its life, the country is in peril, the republic is undergoing a complete change."

These are plainly oratorical exag-gerations. Though gigantic combinations of capital have acquired too much power over the people, the country's peril is purely imaginary, unless the people themselves have undergone a great change. The struggle is one that can be judged correctly only by taking into view long historical periods. We know that in the past democracy has overcome all dangers, that the development of the combinations which the senator has
in mind is a recent development, that it has caused already a popular uprising that is checking the evils of corporate management, and that just
at the present time it is the corporations that appear to be in peril. The wrath that has been aroused against them has become so menacing that the question now is whether radica-lism may not go so far as to cause
the country some injury not through a submission to corporate wealth but through a persecution that may have a disastrous effect upon our industries.

Actually it is becoming incumbent on many who have favored and who still favor a fair control of the corporations for the protection of popular rights to issue warnings against the unthinking, reckless corporation-baiters who are for cordoning legislation. Obviously, therefore, the day has gone by for those wild
alarms in which the senator indulges.
We must beware the danger of demagoguery enacted into statutes.

brought ashore by the life saving
crew to get a tug to tow the injured
yacht into the harbor for repairs.
The crew and two passengers are ported early in the evening that a large steamer was in distress, but it was later learned that it was the

BUDGET FIGURES

(Concluded from First Page.)

$1.85, or 20 cents higher, the income
would have been increased, approximately, $18,000, making the income
on last year's assessment at that rate, $166,384.15.

To find the income for this year at that rate, the income from the $449,- 373, may be added to the $166,384.- 15, making $174,609.15, estimated total income from property tax in 1917.

From other sources in round numbers $80,000 may be anticipated
bringing the total estimated revenue
to $254,609.15, to cover a budget carrying $257,258.

Excellent Collections.

It will be seen by comparison that Paducah has been collecting far in excess of the 90 per cent. allowed by Lexington, Covington and Newport,
and taking last year's collections as a basis gives a more optimistic color
to the situation than discounting ten per cent for delinquents and errors.
It may be that the estimate of $80,- 000 from sources other than advalorem taxes may be too high, because the hospital and police court
have both been falling below last year's record in collections for the first two months. On the other hand the taxbook supervisors have been making an unusually careful examination of the books, eliminating double assessments and discrepancies
that have accumulated year by year,
and this year's assessment should be
consequently accurate.

The collections for last year and previous years reflect great credit on the energy, persistency and capability of City Treasurer Dorian and City Auditor Kirkland, who make a record far ahead of similar officers in sister cities.

The finance committee will meet
Friday and probably Mayor Yelzer
will bring up the tax rate question
for solution early in March.

MOTHER TO SON'S AID; IS SLAIN

Killed As She Tries to Bring Peace
Between Husband and Youth.

Kansas City, Feb. 26.—Mrs. J. Oscar Richardson, wife of a stationary
engineer rushed between her son
and husband in the role of a peace-
maker at their home in Rosedale, Kan., near here, today, and was stabbed to the heart by Richardson. The couple had been quarrelling when the son interfered, taking the mother's part. Richardson then attacked the son with a knife, when the mother interfered.

What Osteopathy Will Do.

There are but few people who have not heard of Osteopathy, also of some of its achievements. But there are far too many who have accredited
it with being good for only those conditions from which they have been cured, or which have come under their observation. Not infrequently
there is mutual surprise when one who was cured of rheumatism meets
another who has been cured of asthma or constipation. This is a homely,
but very true illustration.

Personally, I have cured chronic
cases of constipation, rheumatism,
asthma, nervousness, neuralgia and
headaches for people whom you know well, and the value of the Osteopathic treatment is but coming generally known in Paducah, as it should be.

I should like to talk with you at any time about your particular case,
and know I can cite you to some of your friends who will attest to what the treatment has done for them in similar diseases. Come to my office, 516 Broadway, or phone 1407 any time from 9 to 12 or 2 to 5 p. m.

TRY A SUN WANT AD

Very few people appreciate the great value of the small want ads in the newspapers : : :

Some of the Things The Sun's Have Done

Very few of the people, when reading the want ads, which probably 85 per cent of the readers do, ever realize just what splendid opportunities a three or four line notice will do.

A few days ago a reader of The Sun, who had just installed himself in a flat, purchased new furniture for the entire establishment, had to leave the city, due to a change in his business. "What shall I do with this outfit," he thought.
Then he remembered the Sun want ads, put four lines in for a few days and sold all the furniture, at splendid prices, in a few days.

This is but one of the many incidents of a similar nature.

You may not have an outfit of furniture to sell, but, you may have something around the house some one may want—an old carpet, or range, some musical instrument, or bit of furniture. A want ad. is a fascinating thing, for nearly every one reads them.

Try a want ad, for yourself, and test its merits. The cost is one cent a word for one insertion or three cents a word for a week, cash with order.

Big Racing Auto Attracts Crowd on Broadway.

The big 95-horse power automobile
racer, one of the "Vanderbilt Cup"
machines, got balky at Fifth street
and Broadway this morning shortly before noon and for more than an hour a crowd watched the frantic efforts of the mechanician to work the big machine.

"If that was my automobile I
would sell it to Rittoff, the junk dealer,
for 30 cents," one urchin remarked.

"Say, Feller, yer water tank's leak-
in," one urchin who loafs about a local garage remarked. The man looked up but ventured no reply.
"And yer sparker seems to be going rotten," was the second remark. The mechanist still worked with not a word to the too willing critics. He had screwed and unscrewed bolts and taps and was at the point of exploding when the second urchin ventured
his last suggestion.

"Say yer carburetor seems to be dirty," was the final information offered.

"Well, do you think I have been working with this for an hour not to have known that," the enraged mechanic blurted out, and taking a couple of cans of gasoline he departed
for the nearest store where the fluid
could be found.

POPE OPPOSES FRENCH TERMS.

Church Organs Says Vatican Will Reject French Agreement.

Paris, Feb. 26.—The clerical organs unite in declaring that Cardinal Richard, archbishop of Paris will not submit to the new proposal of the government regarding the church leases.
Their Rome dispatches categorically insist that Pope Plus is resolved to maintain integrally the original text offered by the French episcopate and to refuse even to discuss the government's exceptions relative to the liability of parish priests for the keeping up of churches and the exclusion
of foreign priests of dissolved orders
as parties to contracts.

Whether these inspired statements
are only part of the diplomatic game
remains to be seen.

Premier Clemenceau now admits
frankly that so far as he is concerned
he never expected the church to accept the conditions as to leases, but he says Minister of Education Briand
did and that the cabinet unanimously accorded him a chance to conclude
the negotiations upon the terms stated.

"The future will show who is right
whether he is the victim of an illusion or I am mistaken," the premier added.

"If no agreement is reached, what will happen?" Premier Clemenceau was asked.

"Nothing very terrible," the premier replied. "I think we will return to the solution previously contemplated. The churches will remain open, that goes without saying, and it is conceded, without lease to the Kuttawa to Paducah to live.

clergy, and the state department or commune, as the case may be, will bear the cost of keeping up repairs to a church out of the funds of the church itself. But rest assured the government will go no further in the matter of concessions. The republican majority in the chamber of deputies would not endorse it, nor would any member of the cabinet, not even
M. Briand, favor yielding more."

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 26.—It took twenty-two Reading, Kan., women
just forty minutes yesterday to shuck

copal church. Henry Jacoby told the women he would give them the corn
if they would husk it. They donned aprons and aprons and went to work. When the job was finished the corn was stored in the church belfry
and will be sold in one-bushel lots at the church fair to highest bidders, for the benefit of the church.

MILK AND CREAM COST HIGHER

Census Bulletin Gives Figures From Reports of 1905.

Washington, Feb. 26.—That the cost of milk and cream has advanced enormously since 1900 as the result of the curtailment of supply to the factory and the increasing market in the large cities is shown in a census bulletin for the year 1905. The cost of cream increased 247.9 and milk 3.7 per cent.

According to the statement, there were 8,926 establishments engaged in the butter, cheese and condensed milk industry in 1905, with an aggregate capital of $17,255,566, and employing 15,557 wage earners, who received $7,412,937 in wages. The cost of materials was $142,920, 277, and the products were valued at $168,182,789.

At the census of 1905 there were 10,051 merchant flour and grist mills in the United States; total capital, $265,117,434; employed, 39,110 wage earners, paid $19,522,196 in wages, consumed $619,971,161 worth of materials, and manufactured products to the value of $713,033,395. These figures represent an increase of over 6 per cent. in number of establishments, 40 per cent. in capital and 42 per cent. in value of products.

What We Know About Mars. Mr. Kaempfert is most happy in his choice of figures and illustrations. Could one imagine a more illuminating way of stating a fact than his words on the manner of men the inhabitants of Mars must be: "A Martian laborer could perform as much work in a given time as 50 or 60 terrestrial ditch diggers, and keep pace with a powerful Panama dredger."

A Woman's Health

Is a heritage too sacred to be experimented with. For her peculiar and delicate ailments only medicines of known composition and which contain no alcohol, narcotics, or other harmful or habit-forming drugs should be employed. The one medicine which fulfills all these requirements is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy with a record of over forty years of cures to recommend it; a remedy, the makers of which print its formula on every bottle-wrapper and attest its completeness and correctness under oath; a remedy devised and adapted to woman's delicate constitution by an educated physician—an experienced specialist in woman's diseases; a remedy, every ingredient of which has received the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar diseases; a remedy which has more bona fide cures to its credit than any other sold by druggists for woman's special requirements. It is not given away in the form of "trial bottles" to be experimented with, but is sold at a fair price by all dealers in medicines.

Delicate, weak, nervous women should especially shun the use of alcoholic medicines which, from their stimulating and exhilarating effects may seem, for a time, to do good, but which from the inevitable effects of the alcohol in shrinking up the red corpuscles of the blood are sure to do great and lasting harm in the long run. Besides they beget a craving for stimulants which is most deplorable.

Only invigorating and nerve strengthening effects can follow the use of this famous medicine for women. It can not possibly do harm in any state or condition of the system. It has been carefully adapted to woman's needs by an experienced physician—a specialist in her diseases. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

If a woman has bearing down, or dragging pains, low down in the abdomen, or pelvis, backache, frequent headaches, dizzy or fainting spells, is nervous and easily startled, has gnawing feeling in stomach, sees imaginary floating specks, or spots before her eyes, has melancholia, or "blues," or a weakening disagreeable drain from pelvic organs, she can make no mistake by resorting to the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will invigorate and tone up the whole system and especially the pelvic organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic, "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dress-makers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and

NO SPECULATION SAYS HARRIMAN

Denies Charges in Reference to Alton Deal

Point Raised As To Right of Commission To Inquire Into Certain Transactions.

GOES INTO SPECIFIC DETAIL.

New York, Feb. 26.—E. H. Harriman, master of the Union Pacific system spent the day in recital of portions of the intimate history of the financial operations of himself and associates before the interstate commerce commission. The counsel for the government made a particular attack upon the reorganization and financing of the Alton railroad by the Harriman syndicate and their action which with a challenge by the counsel for the railroads to the right of the interstate commerce commission to inquire into private transactions of an individual, constituted the two chief events of the day's proceedings.

By direction of counsel Harriman declined to tell what proportion of the preferred stock of the Alton, sold to the Union Pacific, belonged to him individually and the way was paved for taking the question into the federal courts.

Limitations of Inquiry Raised.

The point raised involves the material limitation upon inquisitorial power of the commission and is of serious importance to the whole question of the interstate corporation investigation. There was an effort to show by Harriman's testimony and records of the company that there had been enormous inflation of the stock securities and liabilities of the Alton; that the Harriman syndicate had taken unfair profits by devaluing a dividend of 30 per cent, from the proceeds of the first sale of bonds amounting to $40,000,000; that the syndicate had sold itself the bonds at an unreasonable low figure, only to resell them at an enormous profit; that the Harriman syndicate had in the Alton capitalized losses of former stockholders of the road, and money which had been spent by the old management for betterments over a period of ten years, and already charged to operating expenses; that the books of the company had been doctored and that for an increase of stock and liabilities from roughly $40,000,000 to about $116,000,000 there was nothing to show except the expenditure of $22,000,000 in improvements on the property.

Harriman Enters Denial.

Harriman's testimony was a denial of all the charges and towards the end of the afternoon he made an extended explanation and defense of the entire transactions which he contended was fully justified by conditions and circumstances of the time, and which he asserted had been conducted entirely in the open.

Harriman identified a statement prepared by Controller Mahl, showing that the value of stocks acquired by the Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line since July last amounted to $131,000,000.

Harriman testified that the purchase of the Union Pacific in Baltimore and Ohio amounted to $45,000,000, and were to be paid for in March and September.

The inquiry developed the fact that after the decision of the supreme court of the United States dissolving the Northern Securities company the interest of the Union Pacific company in that corporation was returned to them in shares of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern companies. These subsequently were sold, as Mr. Harriman explained, because the revenues derived from them were limited, and the proceeds were invested in stock of the Illinois Central Railroad company, the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe company and the Baltimore and Ohio company.

After Sunset-Up.

"In the first place," said Mr. Harriman, "We have as the result of the Northern Pacific purchase $82,000,000 of Northern Securities stock at a cost of about $79,000,000. Our annual report and our statements all show that. Then we were forced to take, by the decision of the supreme court unjustly—it may have been legal—Great Northern, which we did not want, and a lesser amount of Northern Pacific than we had deposited with the Northern Securities, and for which we received the Northern Securities stock. At the time that stock, the Great Northern, and the Northern Pacific was given to us—forced upon us—it had a market value of about $100,000,000. I will go back just a minute. We had subscribed in the meantime to $3,000,000 of Great Northern stock, which had been offered to the stockholders, making the total cost of whatever

Great Northern and Northern Pacific we had about $82,000,000.

Sold at an Advance.

"Instead of disposing of it at that time we held it until the market price increased in value to somewhere near $145,000,000 to $150,000,000. We sold some of it gradually as it went up, but at that value the returns from the Northern Pacific and Great Northern were less than 3 per cent, on the stock that we held. Therefore, we concluded that it was better to sell these stocks and invest the same money in other securities that would give us greater return."

Chicago and Alton Purchase.

Following the inquiry, Mr. Harriman was questioned respecting the purchase and reorganization of the Chicago and Alton company in 1901. Mr. Milburn, of Mr. Harriman's counsel, objected to this line of inquiry on the ground that it did not fall within the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission.

"Much depended upon who fixed the market price of stocks in such transactions as that just named," said Chairman Knapp.

"If men could fix the market price and then sell their own stock at the price, it was a transaction properly to be inquired into. Mr. Harriman has said that he and his associates fixed the price for the Chicago and Alton stock as a committee."

"Do you intend us to understand, Mr. Milburn, that you hold this commission has no right to ask whether Mr. Harriman was not himself an owner and seller of a part of that stock?"

Mr. Milburn replied that he thought such a question quite improper.

After some further discussion the commission withheld its decision on this point before proceeding with the inquiry respecting the sale of the Chicago and Alton stock to the Union Pacific.

No Transactions Speculative.

Throughout this examination Mr. Harriman insisted that none of these transactions were speculative.

"I do not wish to give the impression that we have been speculating," he remarked, as Mr. Kellogg pressed him for replies concerning the purpose of the acquisition of stock of the Illinois Central, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Chicago and Alton and other roads. "They are for income investment of the proceeds of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific," said the witness.

"Are they for permanent investment or do you expect to sell them again?" asked Mr. Kellogg.

"I have no expectations about it," said Mr. Harriman. "I never thought of that; it never crossed my mind; it is for the purpose of receiving six million and a half dollars a year instead of three million and a half," declared Mr. Harriman.

Harriman said he met the late President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania railroad, in August or September at Bar Harbor and discussed the purchase of the Baltimore and Ohio. He did not think he discussed the price with President Cassatt. There were no conditions with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., as to the purchase of the Baltimore and Ohio, and no outside understanding. It was a clean transaction. It was a continuous line through other companies.

New York Life Transaction.

Harriman denied knowledge of or participation in the sale of $10,000,000 of the bonds of the Chicago and Alton at 96 to the New York Life insurance company.

Decision of Supreme Court of United States

Railroad Wins In Important Case From South With Mill Men—Long Contentions Settled.

RIGHT OF APPEAL CHANGED.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The supreme court of the United States today decided the case of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railroad company vs. the railroad commission of Texas, involving state freight rates, favorably to the state.

Changed by New Law.

Washington, Feb. 26.—In deciding the case of the Texas Pacific Railroad company vs. the Cotton Oil Mills at Abilene and Cisco, Tex., favorably to the railroad company, the supreme court of the United States today held the common law right of individuals to make complaint to the courts against railroads for discrimination, which existed before the enactment of the interstate commerce law had been destroyed by that enactment. The court therefore held that complaints must be made through the interstate commerce commission.

Upholds Secretary of War.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The case of the Union Bridge company of Pittsburgh vs. the United States, involving the authority of the secretary of war to compel the alteration of the bridge in the interest of navigation, was decided by the supreme court of the United States today against the company.

An Inspiration.

"Yes, that's where I got the notion," Hartwell remarked wandering back to his seat in the window. "I've wanted to do it for years, but I've never felt quite sure of myself. I was afraid of missing it. He was an uncle of mine, my father's half brother and I was named for him. He was killed in one of the big battles of Sixty-four, when I was a child. I never saw him—never knew him until he had been dead for twenty years. And then, one night, I came to know him as we sometimes do living persons—intimately. In a single moment."

Thus the artist in Willa Sibert Cather's story, "The Namesake," in the March McClure's begins his story of the inspiration for his great statue "The Color Bearer" that made him the envy of the Latin Quarter of Paris, and the romantic tale gives us a remarkable account of the way in which an inspiration sometimes grows. Through it Miss Cather shows us one answer to the often asked questions: "Where did he get the inspiration?" "Did it come in a flash, or did it develop gradually?"

—Perhaps the "bargains" you have overlooked lately would have reduced the "cost of living" very materially.

NEW CAPITAL IN CALIFORNIA. Berkeley Seems to Be in Favor of Account of Sacramento's Inaccessibility.

San Francisco, Feb. 26.—Many members of the state legislature who came from Sacramento yesterday to inspect Berkeley as a possible new state capital declare that the senate and assembly will agree to transfer the capital to the university town across the bay. Whether the people will approve this is uncertain. San Francisco, Alameda and Los Angeles counties favor Berkeley because of its better geographical position. Sacramento is hard to reach and it has no advantages as a capital, having poor hotel facilities and bad train connections.

Rheumatism

is caused by tiny grains of uric acid sand in your joints or muscles, which scratch and irritate your nerves in a thousand places. At first you only feel a twinge now and then, in the foot, leg, shoulder, back, or elsewhere. But in time, as the deposits of uric acid sand increase, chronic rheumatism results and cripples you with pain.

Uric acid is a part of the body's waste, and is being produced by the tissues all over your body all the time. If your blood is weakened by cold, injury, infection, or any other cause, or if you eat more—particularly meat—than your tissues can use, the waste matter is not thrown out through the kidneys fast enough, and uric acid accumulates. One of the world's greatest scientists, Alexander Haig, A. M., M. D. Oxon., F. R. C. P., of England, says:

"Every man who eats ordinary diet with meat twice a day, will, by the time he is 35 or 40, have accumulated 300 to 400 grains (weight) of uric acid in his tissues, and be subject to chronic rheumatism."

Once uric acid sand has a hold, your blood unaided cannot remove it. YOU MUST GIVE IT LIFE PLANT! LIFE PLANT is Nature's own weapon against uric acid. Given LIFE PLANT, which has the power of dissolving uric acid sand, your blood will thoroughly clear your body of the cause of rheumatism and other uric acid diseases. Thousands of unsolicited testimonials prove what LIFE PLANT will do. Read this:

"I was afflicted with rheumatism in my knees and arms, which were so badly swollen that I was obliged to crawl up and down stairs and almost unable to do any work. I also suffered a great deal of pain at night. After I had taken four bottles of Life Plant I was entirely cured, and have not suffered since. I heartily recommend it to any person afflicted with rheumatism."

CHAPTER XVIII.

THAT night for almost the first time since he had adopted his dual role Loder slept ill. He was not a man over whom imagination held any powerful sway. His doubts and misgivings seldom ran to speculation upon future possibilities. Nevertheless, the fact that, consciously or unconsciously, he had adopted a new attitude toward Eve came home to him with unpleasant force during the hours of darkness, and long before the first hint of daylight had slipped through the heavy window curtains he had arranged a plan of action—a plan wherein, by the simple method of altogether avoiding her, he might soothe his own conscience and safeguard Chilote's domestic interests.

It was a satisfactory if a somewhat negative arrangement, and he rose next morning with a feeling that things had begun to shape themselves. But chance sometimes has a disconcerting knack of forestalling even our best planned schemes. He dressed slowly and descended to his solitary breakfast with the pleasant sensation of having put last night out of consideration by the turning over of a new leaf, but scarcely had he opened Chilote's letters, scarcely had he taken a cursory glance at the morning's newspaper than it was turned in upon him that not only a new leaf, but a whole sheet of new leaves, had been turned in his prospects by a hand infinitely more powerful and arbitrary than his own. He realized within the space of a few moments that the leisure Eve might have claimed, the leisure he might have been tempted to devote to her, was no longer his to dispose of, being already demanded of him from a quarter that allowed of no refusal.

For the first rumbling of the political earthquake that was to shake the country made itself audible beyond denial on that morning of March 27 when the news spread through England that, in view of the disorganized state of the Persian army and the shah's consequent inability to suppress the open insurrection of the border tribes in the northeastern districts of Meshed, Russia, with a great show of magnanimity, had come to the rescue by dispatching a large armed force from her military station at Merv across the Persian frontier to the seat of the disturbance.

To many hundreds of Englishmen who read their papers on that morning this announcement conveyed but little. That there is such a country as Persia we all know, that English interests predominate in the south and Russian interests in the north we have all superficially understood from childhood, but in this knowledge, coupled with the fact that Persia is comfortably far away, we are apt to rest content. It is only to the eyes that see through long distance glasses, the minds that regard the present as nothing more or less than an inevitable link joining the future to the past, that this distant, debatable land stands out in its true political significance.

To the average reader of news the statement of Russia's move seemed scarcely more important than had the first report of the border risings in January, but to the men who had watched the growth of the disturbance it came charged with portentous meaning. Through the entire ranks of the opposition, from Franks himself downward, it caused a thrill of expectation—that peculiar prophetic sensation that every politician has experienced at some moment of his career.

In no member of his party did this feeling strike deeper root than in Loder. Imbued with a lifelong interest in the eastern question, specially equipped by personal knowledge to hold and proclaim an opinion upon Persian affairs, he read the signs and portents with instinctive insight. Seated at Chilote's table, surrounded by Chilote's letters and papers, he forgot the breakfast that was slowly growing cold, forgot the interests and dangers, personal or pleasurable, of the night before, while his mental eyes persistently conjured up the map of Persia, traveling with steady deliberation from Merv to Meshed, from Meshed to Herat, from Herat to the empire of India. For it was not the fact that the Hazaras had risen against the shah that occupied the thinking mind, nor was it the fact that Russian and not Persian troops were destined to subdue them, but the deeply important consideration that an armed Russian force had crossed the frontier and was encamped within twenty miles of Meshed—Meshed, upon which covetous Russian eyes have rested ever since the days of Peter the Great.

So Loder's thoughts ran as he read and reread the news from the varying political standpoints, and so they continued to run when, some hours later, an urgent telephone message from the St. George's Gazette asked him to call at Laker's office.

The message was interesting as well as imperative, and he made an instant response. The thought of Laker's keen eyes and shrewd enthusiasms always possessed strong attractions for his own slower temperament, but even and this impetus being lacking, the knowledge that at the St. George's office, if anywhere, the true feelings of the party were invariably voiced would have drawn him without hesitation.

everywhere diffused was making itself felt. Loder smiled to himself as his eyes fell on the day's placards with their uncompromising headlines and passed onward from the string of gayly painted carts drawn up to receive their first consignment of the paper to the troop of eager newsboys passing in and out of the big swing doors with their piled up bundles of the early edition, and with a renewed thrill of anticipation and energy he passed through the doorway and ran upstairs. Passing unchallenged through the long corridor that led to Laker's office, he caught a fresh impression of action and vitality from the click of the tape machines in the subeditor's office, and a glimpse through the open door of the subeditors themselves, each occupied with his particular task; then without time for further observation he found himself at Laker's door. Without waiting to knock, as he had felt compelled to do on the one or two previous occasions that business had brought him there, he immediately turned the handle and entered the room.

Editors' offices differ but little in general effect. Laker's surroundings were rather more elaborate than is usual, as became the dignity of the oldest Tory evening paper, but the atmosphere was unmistakable. As Loder entered he glanced up from the desk at which he was sitting, but instantly returned to his task of looking through and making a pile of early evening editions that were spread around him. His coat was off and hung on the chair behind him, and he pulled vigorously in a long cigar.

"Hello! That's right," he said inconspicuously. "Make yourself comfortable half a second, while I skim the St. Stephens."

His satisfaction pleased Loder. With a nod of acquiescence he crossed the office to the brick fire that burned in the grate.

For a minute or two Laker worked steadily, occasionally breaking the quiet by an unintelligible remark or a vigorous stroke of his pencil. At last he dropped the paper with a gesture of satisfaction and leaned back in his chair.

"Well," he said, "what d'you think of this? How's this for a complication?"

Loder turned round. "I think," he said quietly, "that we can't overestimate it."

Laker laughed and took a long pull at his cigar. "And we mustn't be afraid to let the Seaborough crowd know it, eh?" He waved his hand to the poster of the first edition that hung before his desk.

Loder, following his glance, smiled. Laker laughed again. "They might have known it all along if they'd cared to deduce," he said. "Did they really believe that Russia was going to sit calmly looking across the Herat-Rail while the shah played at mobilizing? But what became of you last night? We had a regular prophesying of the whole business at Brantford's; the great Franks looked in for five minutes. I went on with him to the club afterward and was there when the news came in. 'Twas a great night!"

Loder's face lighted up. "I can imagine it," he said, with an unusual touch of warmth.

Laker watched him intently for a moment. Then with a quick action he leaned forward and rested his elbows on the desk.

"It's going to be something more than imagination for you, Chilote," he said impressively. "It's going to be solid earnest!" He spoke rapidly and with rather more than his usual shrewd delicacy; then he paused to see the effect of his announcement.

Loder was still studying the faring poster. At the other's words he turned sharply. Something in Laker's voice, something in his manner, arrested him. A tinge of color crossed his face.

"Reality?" he said. "What do you mean?"

For a further space his companion watched him, then with a rapid movement he tilted back his chair.

"Yes," he said. "Yes, old Franks' instincts are never far out. He's quite right. You're the man!"

Still quietly, but with a strange un-derglow of excitement, Loder left the fire and, coming forward, took a chair at Laker's desk.

"Do you mind telling me what you're driving at?" he asked in his old, inconspicuous voice.

Laker still scrutinized him with an air of brisk satisfaction; then with a gesture of finality he tossed his cigar away.

"My dear chap," he said, "there's going to be a breach somewhere—and Franks says you're the man to step in and fill it. You see, five years ago, when things looked lively on the Gulf and the Bandar Abbas business came to light, you did some promising work, and a reputation like that sticks to a man even when he turns slacker! I won't deny that you've slackened abominably," he added as Loder made an uneasy movement, "but slacking has different effects. Some men run to seed, others mature. I had almost put you down on the black list, but I've altered my mind in the last two months."

Again Loder stirred in his seat. A host of emotions were stirring in his mind. Every word wrung from Laker was another stimulus to pride, another subtle tribute to the curious force of personality.

"Well?" he said. "Well?"

Laker smiled. "We all know that Seaborough's industry is well, to be sure," he said, "Seaborough is building his card house just a story too high. It's a toss up whether it'll upset the balance. It might be the army, of course, or it might be education, but it might quite as well be a matter of foreign policy!"

"They looked at each other in comprehensive silence."

"You know as well as I that it's not the question of whether Russia comes into Persia, but the question of whether Russia goes out of Persia when these Hazaras are subdued! I'll lay you what you like, Chilote, that within one week we hear that the risings are suppressed, but that Russia, instead of retiring, has advanced those tempting twenty miles and comfortably encamped herself at Meshed—as she encamped herself on the island of Ashurada!" Laker's nervous, energetic figure was braced, his light blue eyes brightened by the intensity of his interest.

"If this news comes before the Easter recess," he went on, "the first nail can be hammered in on the motion for adjournment. And if the right man does it in the right way I'll lay my life 'twill be a nail in Seaborough's coffin."

Loder sat very still. Overwhelming possibilities had suddenly opened before him. In a moment the unreality of the past months had become real; a tangible justification of himself and his imposture was suddenly made possible. In the stress of understanding he, too, leaned forward, and, resting his elbows on the desk, took his face between his hands.

For a space Laker made no remark. To him man and man's moods came second in interest to his paper and his party politics. That Chilote should be conscious of the glories he had opened up seemed only natural; that he should show that consciousness in a becoming gravity seemed only right. For some seconds he made no attempt to disturb him, but at last his own irrepressible activity made silence unendurable. He caught up his pencil and tapped impatiently on the desk.

"Chilote," he said quickly and with a gleam of sudden anxiety, "you're not by any chance doubtful of yourself?"

At sound of his voice Loder lifted his face. It was quite pale again, but his energy and resolution that had come into it when Laker first spoke were still to be seen.

"No, Laker," he said very slowly, "it's not the sort of moment in which a man doubts himself."

Value of Laughter.
A good laugh is the best medicine in the world.

If we laughed more we should all be happier and healthier.

True, we are a busy and a very practical people, and most of us probably find more in this life to bring the frown than the smile; but at the same time, it is a pity that we do not laugh more—that we do not bring ourselves to the laugh, if need be.

Physicians have said that no other feelings work so much good to the entire human body as that of merriment.

HITCHCOCK'S WAY OF GETTING EVEN

Just Does His Duty and Sees Enemies in Toils

Why Congressman Mondell Opposed Appropriation Is Becoming More Apparent.

ENTERS HOMESTEAD CLAIM.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—As a parting shot Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock has thrown a bomb among the politicians in congress who have criticized his campaign against public land grafters.

Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, induced the house of representatives last week to adopt an amendment to the sundry civil bill forbidding the examination of lands embraced in entry on which final proof has been made unless the interior department has information furnishing good grounds to suspect fraud or non-compliance with the law as to that specific entry.

While Mr. Mondell was advocating this amendment Secretary Hitchcock learned that the Wyoming representative had filed final proof for a patent on a homestead of 160 acres near his home town, Newcastle. In an affidavit accompanying his application Mr. Mondell declared he had resided on the place continuously for the term required by law. He applied for the homestead under the agricultural land laws.

Evidence of Fraud Discovered.
The department has been informed there is no residence on the homestead and also that there is coal underlying the surface. Before approving Mr. Mondell's application Secretary Hitchcock has sent a special agent to Newcastle to make a thorough investigation and upon his report the department will act.

Mr. Mondell has been the leader in the house in the fight against Secretary Hitchcock. In every way he could he has hampered the policy of the secretary and is pursuing in his less important role the same tactics as Senators Warren, Carter and others have followed in the senate. In the public lands committee, of which he is senior member—and of which he should be chairman in the next congress if the rule of seniority is followed—and in the appropriations committee Mr. Mondell has been active in preventing the enactment of reforms which President Roosevelt and Secretary Hitchcock have advocated.

President Tries to Check Frauds.
Facing so many evidences of fraud in connection with the furnishing of final proof for land entries, the president, upon recommendation of Mr. Hitchcock, issued last December an order forbidding the issue of final certificates, patents or other evidence of title until a field examination had been made by government agents.

It being shown that this order was too sweeping in its scope, the president modified the order by excepting from its provisions final five year homestead entries heretofore made where proof was satisfactory and complete; homestead entries committed on ceded Indian lands, in which annual payments were required; entries where claimant's compliance with the law had been established by contest or other regular adverse proceedings; entries confirmed by virtue of any act of congress; selections and entries in which no residence or improvement was required by law when lands were not embraced in mineral localities; reassurance of patent because of some clerical error; and military bounty land warrants and other similar warrants when requisite proof had been made.

Mondell Fights Against Inquiries.
Upon these concessions were deemed inadequate, and when the interior department asked for $500,000 to be used in employing special agents to carry into effect the order of the president Representative Mondell appeared before the appropriations committee in opposition thereto. He insisted that an investigation was impossible unless millions instead of thousands of dollars were expended.

He stated that the average number of proofs passed to patent per annum was about 65,000. There are now pending for examination about 60,000 in addition to 5,000 almost ready for settlement. He asserted that the experience of the land office showed that one agent could not handle more than 60 entries a year, and that as with $500,000 only 75 agents could be employed, they would be able to examine only 4,500 cases per annum.

The money asked for would not be available before July 1 next, so that by June 30, 1905, approximately 125,000 cases would be awaiting settlement and great hardships would be suffered by the applicants.

Department Hit by Amendment.
The committee cut down the department's estimate to $25,000.

Over the Phone Screams of Agony are Heard by Patrons of Party Line

Centerville, Ia., Feb. 26.—Rural telephone users all over Wayne county today heard the screams of Mrs. George Stech while she struggled desperately with a tramp who attacked her in her home near the county line.

Men in the homes of her nearest neighbors who hastened to get out teams and rush to her assistance, were too late to save Mrs. Stech or capture her assailant. Tonight posses with bloodhounds are searching the countryside and there is a chance that the tramp will be lynched if captured.

Phone Left Open in Struggle.

Mrs. Stech says the tramp came to her door early in the afternoon and demanded admittance. She was alone in the house with her three-year old girl, and frightened she closed the door in the tramp's face and locked it. The man at once commenced to break down the door.

Mrs. Stech carried her little girl to a bedroom and locked her in. She then ran to her telephone and rang to call for help, but before she could speak the tramp had forced his way in and seized her.

She dropped the receiver, leaving the phone open, and the central operator heard her first scream.

Screams for Help Carry Far. For half an hour the woman struggled desperately with her assailant all over the little living room. Each time she found herself near the telephone she screamed for help. In nearly every home on the system to which her phone belonged her screams were heard.

The first of her neighbors to arrive found Mrs. Stech bound and unconscious. The tramp had disappeared. The men who started out to hunt him down after hearing her story were armed and said they would shoot him on sight.

DEATHS OF A DAY

Robert Hook.

Mr. Robert S. Hook, one of the oldest and best known men in Highland county, died Sunday of pneumonia. Mr. Hook was a native of Christian county, but had been living in this section since his early manhood. He was a consistent member of the Christian church for many years. He was a member of the church at Hinkleville. Mr. Hook is survived by two daughters: Mrs. J. M. Skinner, of Hinkleville, and Miss Annie T. Hook. His son was Mr. Ed Hook, formerly of Paducah, but now an express messenger between Cairo and New Orleans.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock with services at his residence and the burial in the Hook graveyard, near Hinkleville.

REV. DEL WRIGHT

Meets With Success in Series of Lenten Lectures.

Monday's Louisville Evening Post says:

"In a twenty-minutes' address teeming with pointed phrase, logical thought concisely expressed, and convincing argument, the Rev. David C. Wright, of Paducah, at the Lenten service today at noon at the board of trade, impressed upon a large gathering of men the fact that while religion is mysterious, it is not any more so than daily life. 'Religion Utterly Mysterious, But Perfectly Rational,' was the theme on which he spoke. He will have charge of the Lenten services all this week. His address today made an excellent impression, and his addresses the remainder of the week will doubtless attract many men.

"His list of subjects is as follows: 'Monday—Religion Less Mysterious Than Daily Life.'

"Tuesday—Must One Believe in Miracles to Be a Christian?"

"Wednesday—Prayer—Perfectly Rational and Scientific."

"Thursday—What Does Religion Demand of Me?"

"Friday—The Ten Great Words."

It is funny how sure every woman is that she has the same qualities as the heroine in her favorite novel.

PROGRESSIVE PADUCAH.

A Paducahan whose wife is now in New York, knowing his appreciation of the proper thing in dress, wrote him about the new fashions for spring as shown in that city.

Among the most noticeable styles mentioned were the new bell-trope shades in men's shirts, as shown and featured by the best shops. A Sun reporter was surprised to find them on display this week in the windows of Roy L. Culley & Co.'s store, and upon congratulating the firm on their progressiveness was informed by Mr. Culley that, by special arrangements with importers and manufacturers "the new store" would, this season, give its patrons the new styles just as fast as they were developed in the east. Showing something different each week.

This is indeed very enterprising and denotes the progressive spirit of the store as well as marks another step forward in their rapid progress.

FALL FROM CAR KILLS PASTOR.

Dr. Everett D. Burr, of Newton Center, Mass., Crushed by Train.

Westboro, Mass., Feb. 26.—The mangled and dismembered body of Rev. Dr. Everett D. Burr, a Baptist clergyman of Newton Center, was found today, lying beside the railroad tracks, near the Summer street bridge. The face was bruised, the skull fractured, both arms were broken and both legs amputated. The clothing was torn to shreds.

Medical Examiner Charles S. Knight stated that death was due to accident. He said that the victim had undoubtedly fallen from a moving train while passing from one car to another.

Dr. Burr was one of the best-known clergymen of the Baptist denomination in Massachusetts, and was prominent as a lecturer. He was an alumnus of Brown University and the Crozier Theological Seminary of Pennsylvania.

PRESCRIPTION FOR THE BLOOD

A Mixture Which Anyone Can Prepare at Home

Relieves Blood Disorders by Restoring Proper Action of the Kidneys—Cures Rheumatism.

TAKE IT FOR A WEEK

All medical authorities are agreed that the blood is the great source of disease or of health in the human system. If the blood is pure the individual is strong and healthy. If the blood is impure or diseased then there is sickness or decay in the whole system.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease. It is caused by excessive uric acid. Sores, pimples, etc., mean bad blood. Catarrhal affections must be treated through the blood to get permanent results. To get well, to feel strong, hearty and vigorous one must have good clean blood and lots of it. You can't clean the blood thoroughly unless the kidneys are made active. Bad blood means clogged, inactive kidneys and liver which causes, too, such symptoms as backache, nervousness, bladder and urinary difficulties and other sympathetic troubles.

Here is a simple home remedy and the prescription for making it up is as follows:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce Compound Kargon, one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

Here the readers of this paper have a simple, yet powerful and effective remedy for all forms of blood, kidney and bladder diseases which should relieve rheumatism and catarrhal affections and replace that weak, worn-out indifferent feeling with strength, vigor and health.

This prescription is considered a fine system renovator and, being made of vegetable extracts only is harmless and anyone can mix it at home. Try this anyway before investing in the secret unknown concoctions of the patent medicine manufacturers.

Restaurant Fines and Tips.

In the March McClure's there is an interesting article entitled "The Diary of an Amateur Waitress" by Maud Younger, which treats one of our industrial problems from a worker's point of view. The writer narrates her experience in various New York restaurants and describes the system of fines in one of them as follows:

"Are there many fines?" I asked. "Many!" she exclaimed. "You're fined if you break anything; you're fined if the ice melts on the butter so that the water runs on the table; you're fined if the spoon ain't in the sugar-bowl. There's mighty few girls that gets full wages here. The firm sometimes makes a dollar a week off a girl."

I smiled and turned toward her. "Well I suppose the tips will help me out."

"Tips," she laughed. "It's a long time you'll be here before you see the sign of a tip. Why, in all New York, it's half the girls and more that makes nothing on the side."

"Can they live on their wages?" I asked.

She gave me a scrutinizing glance. "What did you work at before?" she asked, eyeing me with a level gaze.

"I never worked in a restaurant," I answered noncommittally.

"I thought not," she said, "or you'd know that a girl can't live long on four dollars a week, or even five, without some other means of support."

An Heirloom.

SERIOUS CHARGE

Preferred Against Colored Man By Uncle of Girl.

Charged with criminally assaulting Willie Henry, a 12-year-old colored girl George Read, colored, 38 years old visited the girl's house a short time after the alleged assault and was attacked by the child's mother with a knife and seriously cut. He was later arrested and taken to jail pending trial. A warrant was issued at the instance of Jim Brown, an uncle, and Patrolman Henry Singery arrested Read at 8 o'clock last night at his home.

This morning at the city hall the girl was medically examined by Drs. Horace T. Rivers and H. T. Hellig and every indication of criminal assault found. This was reported to the court and to Attorney J. C. Diuguid, employed by Read. When the case was called, the last on the docket, Attorney Diuguid waived examination for his client, who was promptly held over.

Patrolman Singery stated this morning that colored residents adjacent to Read's home declare this is not the first time he has been suspected of criminal assault on young girls, and great feeling has existed against him for some time.
